(Please refer to Articles L22.07 and LOU 60.04.06)

Article L.22.07 CREW REST AT LAYOVER STATIONS

There shall be a scheduled twenty-four (24) hour crew rest at layover stations

When the outbound and the return flight are scheduled to operate on the same type of aircraft, cabin personnel will receive no less than that received by the pilots.

This restriction does not apply;

where one of the two flight legs is scheduled to operated on a different type of aircraft the pilots cannot operate

in an irregular operation

to contractual differences in the definition of the duty period

There shall be a minimum eighteen (18) hour crew rest at layover stations

Legal crew rest period for Regular Blockholders, upon return to Home Base, will be thirty-six (36) hours;

Legal crew rest period for Reserve Blockholders, upon return to Home Base, will be seventy-two (72) hours. Days off, when flown into, shall commence twelve (12) hours after termination of the last duty period.

These are your rights, this is non negotiable.

The Company designated the MEL flights as L22B and has agreed upon these terms.

In the case the service is adjusted to accomodate said negotiated crew rest, please remember to complete the on board report (OBR)
to the Company.
